

Idea sketch

Rendered version in maya

In this rotation, I have been taught to use Maya to create a 3D story world.

Since this is the first time ever that I use Maya, I decided to make a simple model from it. I started with sketching and try to make all of the object as possible to build by a beginner like me in Maya.

What I think is great is that I found it is quite interesting to make. I have found a tutorial on bilibili for the chair and have learnt many useful skills that could be used for the following steps and saves me some time. I really like the book arrangement I have made on the bookshelf to make the scene more alive.

However, I didn't make the posters and the cat on the rooftop as I don't have enough time to learn and apply it in here.

My idea comes from the room that I lives in Hong Kong. So I make it quite small and crowded. Then I added the things I need and like in my room, such as, posters, comics, novels, iPad and doll, etc.

I designed it as a box to show it is my own private space inside and there is a cross and "no people" sign to show I don't like others to come in. The reason why there is a window next to my bed is that I like to see the street view and sky before I sleep.

For the colour usage, it is also based on my own bedroom and my personal preference on colour.

The lighting of the scene is like this because I like the warm light when dusk com and to make a contrast, I used cold colour as light come from the iPad.

Rendered version in maya

Rendered version in maya

A dream bedroom
Jinyan Yu, Pat