

Sketching and Drawing

In this rotation, I have been brought out to Waterloo to make some observational drawings with my classmates. I found it fun to do so with bunch of other people as I usually not willing to go out alone. Also I had done some drawings near my home.

When I am searching for things to draw, I found many interesting angles of framing and interaction between people. These are the things I usually neglect as we are living in a fast paced world.

After drawing outside, I have chosen one that I think is most narrative and made two other drawings to make a short story. I have chosen the one that an old couple are sitting together and looking outside. I really like this one because there could be so many stories between these two characters. The view of their back also gives me a feeling of peaceful and warmth.
